New Paths

Throughout this past year we followed many paths. We went our separate ways, yet we traveled together. We experienced moments of joy in victory and moments of despair in defeat. We explored new realms of knowledge as well as old. We made new

Ted,
Lots of luck in your Senior year. Have fun this Summer.

Two roads diverged in a yellow wood,
And, sorry I could not travel both
And be one traveler, long I stood
And looked down one as far as I could
To where it bent in the undergrowth;

Then took the other, as just as fair,
And having perhaps the better claim,
Because it was grassy and wanted wear;
Though, as for that, the passing there
Had worn them really about the same,

And Old . . .

friends and renewed old friendships. It was a year of decisions in which all had to choose which path they were to take. Perhaps many years from now we will remember this year with Robert Frost's "The Road Not Taken."

And both that morning equally lay
In leaves no step had trodden black.
Oh, I kept the first for another day!
Yet, knowing how way leads on to way,
I doubted if I should ever come back.

I shall be telling this with a sigh
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I—
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.

P.S. How did you like it...!

A flower unblown; a book unread;
A tree with fruit unharvested;
A path untrod; a house whose rooms
Lack yet the heart's divine perfume;
A landscape whose wide border lies
In silent shade 'neath silent skies;
A wondrous fountain yet unsealed;
A casket with its gifts concealed—
This is the Year that for you waits
Beyond tomorrow's mystic gates.

Double Dedicatees, Schweitzer and Patterson, Contribute

As a teacher, club sponsor, football announcer, and track official, you constantly have given of your time and effort to the students and faculty of GHS. Your ready wit and friendly smile have maintained an informal atmosphere in your biology, Earth Science, and Physical Science classes. You sponsored the Key Club for four years and have sponsored the Future Scientist Club for two years, guiding the members in their activities and helping them to mature and accept responsibility. During football season, as announcer at the games, you have given an exceptional commentary on the plays; during track season, you have acted as an official, helping other officials in any way possible, and have always been ready to boost the morale of the participants. You have gained our friendship and respect because of your continual interest in the student body, your teaching ability and unending patience, and your dedication to the teaching profession. We are proud to dedicate the 1967 SAIL ON to you, Mr. James Schweitzer.

Unlimited Time, Efforts to Students and Faculty of GHS

During your years at GHS as a teacher and class sponsor, you have spent unlimited time and effort on the students' behalf. By understanding us and speaking our language, you have not only instilled in us the history of the United States, but you have also established in us a firm foundation in the fundamentals of education and prepared us to take our places as citizens of tomorrow. Constantly you have practiced fair play, in and out of the classroom, and have taken a kindly interest in our welfare. For four years you have been the junior class sponsor. During these four years, you patiently and persistently have directed the junior class in the preparation for the annual Junior-Senior Prom. As a dedicated teacher and friend, you have set high ideals for your students to follow. It is with heartfelt respect and esteem that we humbly dedicate the 1967 SAIL ON to you, Mr. Howard Patterson.

Increased Enrollment, Evaluation Confront Administration

Over the hot line, Mr. Hall confers with an administrator of RMHS.

"Well, it's like this ..." says Mr. Toquinto to Roland Driver and Anthony Jackson.

For the administration, growth and change were the key factors in directing the activities for the school year. The addition of 28 faculty members increased the faculty enrollment to 85; the addition of over 400 students increased the student enrollment to 1410. New to the administration was Dr. Calvin Blatt, who replaced Mrs. Ulmer as assistant principal. Because of increased enrollment, major changes were necessary: all classrooms were utilized, usually by more than one teacher; lunch was served during a continuous hour and a half lunch period; and the new programs of Welding, Horticulture II, and Auto Body and Fender were added to the GHS curriculum.

In addition to the regular routine, the administration was also confronted with evaluation. The accreditation of GHS was uppermost in the minds of the administration and faculty as they evaluated themselves, the students, the programs, and the facilities in preparation for the March evaluation. An increase in faculty and committee meetings, added to their usual duties, kept the administrative staff very busy. Despite their many obligations, the administration, always interested in the education of today's youth, successfully guided the student body along old and new paths to the completion of another school year.

"Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" asks Dr. Blatt.

Dr. Blatt frequently consults with Mrs. Grogg on the attendance.

"Private eye" Mr. Toquinto seems to be interested in something other than the bonfire.

Mr. Hall keeps his secretary, Mrs. Hoffman, busy taking dictation.

Many Additions Predict More Active and Productive Year

September sixth ended a summer full of jobs and fun, bringing back studies and school routine where "change" was a key word.

A system of five overlapping lunch shifts was one of the bigger changes Trojans had to adjust to. Permanent bleachers gave a new look to the traditional autumn activities of football pep rallies and games.

Not since 1963 had freshmen been heard in our halls. One half of the ninth grade class joined the sophomores in making fifty per cent of the student body new to the school.

After a few weeks of school, the excitement of innovation and change died down as the changed phases and new faces became familiar components of Gaithersburg High.

Swinging with School Spirit, Excited Students, Alumni

"Homecoming is What's Happening" got off to an energetic start with School Spirit Day being won by the seniors. The student body rallied on Friday night when talents tangled, with Ed Beckman, Steve Lowrey and Chris Holmes the winning trio. Later, bonfire flames roared, warning BCC of Saturday's gridiron date. The traditional parade of floats toured through Gaithersburg on Saturday morning. That afternoon the Trojan 11 won a nerve-wracker over the Barons, 14-13. At half time Carolyn Duvall was crowned Queen and first and second place trophies were awarded to Pep Club and Class of '69 floats, respectively. That night, lights dimmed and charms sparkled, as the students enjoyed a welcome home dance for the Alumni.

It must have been an exciting game that warranted Yara's intent gaze.

Yara exhibits her dramatic skill in the Drama Club's production of "Laura."

It is a common thought that "People are people everywhere." We have given so much credit to this statement that we usually forget that even though people are basically the same, their traditions and environments are responsible for important differences.

Can you understand a country in which a person who is dying of starvation might spend his last dollars to have fun for four days?

Can you understand a nation that needs economical aid to provide education for its people, but can afford to build a new capital?

The answer to these questions lies in being able to think and feel as the Brazilian people do.

I have been here almost ten months and I can say that almost all this time I have really tried to understand the United States as an American does.

These months have been the most enjoyable that I have ever had. Your kindness and hospitality have changed a year to the year.

Thanks especially to—

—my teachers, who were ready to help me.

—my friends, with whom I did not have many chances to talk.

—my buddies, who have had a hard time with a real "Brazilian nut."

—my family, that always made me feel at home.

To you all, a real thank you.

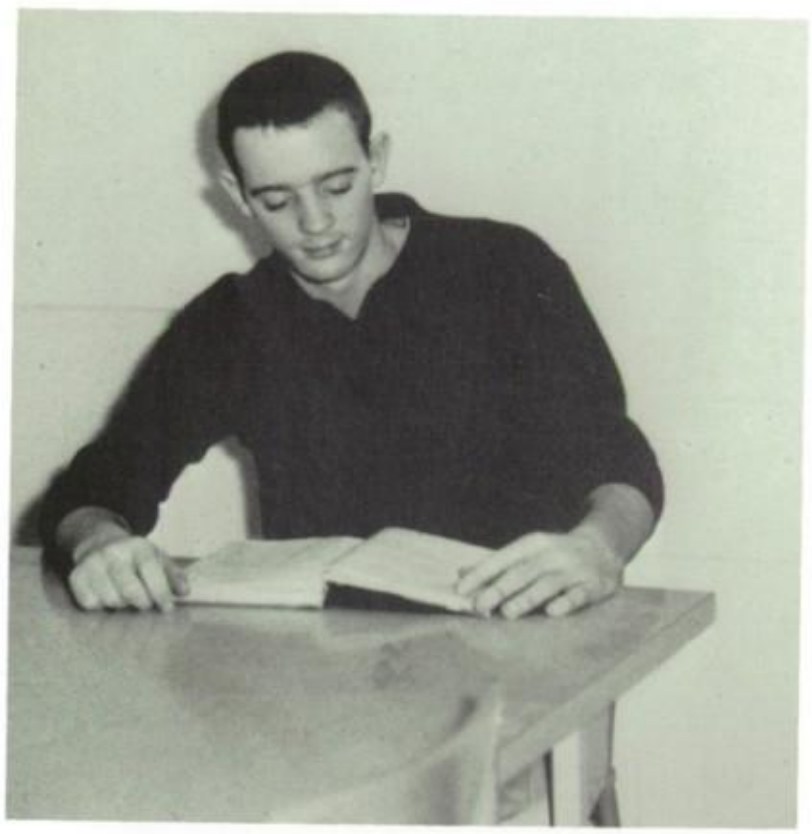
Experiences for Students Yara de Carvalho, Keith Beck



For me to imagine how any of the over 700 other students who participated in the Americans Abroad Program could have enjoyed a more profitable summer than I did in Belgium is impossible. From my departure on June 20 until my return on September 12, the days were full of enlightening experiences. In fact, I am still benefitting from continued contact with my Belgium family.

At first, the ten members of the Albert Dehareng family were gracious and generous hosts, but, as the summer progressed, they became less my hosts and more my family. A family of diversified interests, they proved also to be wonderfully flexible; our activities ranged from sailing to chamber music recitals.

In spite of differences in language, culture and politics, the people of Belgium are basically the same as the people of the United States and, I am sure, of any other country.

I am sure all of the A.F.S. students share my evaluation of the exchange program. There cannot be a better way to learn about the people of another country than to live with them—to be a member of a family, not a tourist.

I know I shall never be able to repay those who made my summer possible; I can only continue to offer my thanks for a truly wonderful experience.

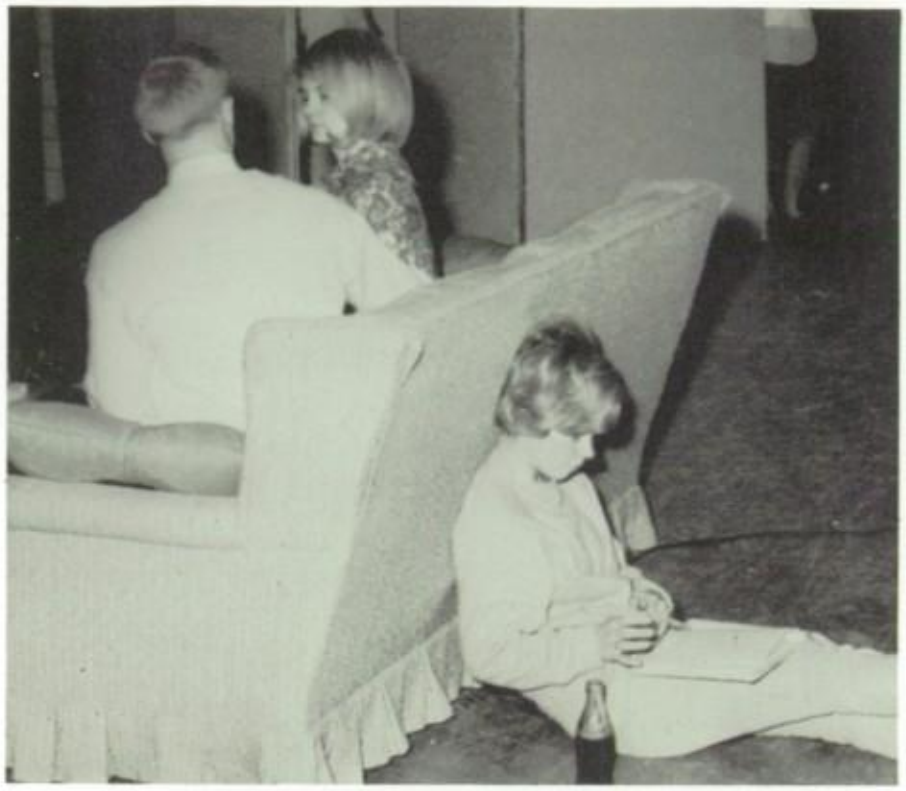
When the "Mod" party battles the "Rocker" party for the governorship of East Utopia, the campaign is "Off and Running." Problems in love and politics arise, but to the relief and joy of all, these problems are resolved after election night. Before Follies '66 could be staged, much background work on the operations of the political system had to be done, thus enabling the students to get simultaneously a first-hand lesson in politics and dramatics. The original choreography, music by the Stardusters, title song by Richard Wade and Hampton King, and abundance of student talent made Follies '66 the success that "Follies" traditionally has been.

"We'll play it our own way," declares an indignant Tom Winkler.



Peggy Decker finds her big sister's love life more interesting than homework.

Assemblies and Pep Rallies Enrich, Entertain Student Body

Assemblies covered many facets of students' interests. A selection of Christmas hymns presented by the Montgomery Junior College Choir and a choral assembly by Peary High School displayed the musical talents of students in other schools. The need for safe operation of motor vehicles was emphasized in an assembly presented by Maryland State Police Department. From two assemblies by the American Field Service, students were able to get a glimpse of life in foreign countries. Rousing Pep Rallies gave everyone a chance to show his school spirit and "let off steam." This year's assembly schedule provided a welcome supplement to academic life.

Couples Revisit Ancient Greece at "An Evening in Athens"

Mr. Toquinto congratulates Betsy Jacobs, the students' selection as March Ball Queen.

Because of February's tight activities schedule, this year's annual Key Club Ball, "An Evening in Athens," was postponed until March. Sharing in the responsibility of making the dance a success, the Keyettes, female counterpart of Key Club, assisted in the planning and decorating for the Ball. Surrounded by the splendor of ancient Greece, the couples danced to the music of a more modern era, provided by the "Embers." A high point in the evening was the coronation of the queen and her court of princesses, who were elected by student contributions. Reigning that night were Mary Cox, sophomore princess; Jackie McDonough, junior princess; and Betsy Jacobs, queen.

'66 Seniors Conquer Exams and Hail Graduation with Pride

Seniors take to arms in observance of Senior Day.

Memories of twelve years of work, worry, and joy filled the minds of seniors as they filed into the gym for graduation. The seniors could recall many events, ranging from triumphant sports victories to the recent Junior-Senior One-Act Play Contest.

At "Camelot," the prom given for this class, seniors enjoyed the efforts of juniors to provide an enjoyable evening. Senior Day gave the class an opportunity to impose their "seniority" on the other students. They had prepared several exciting activities that made the day a success. A full bill of entertainment at the Senior Banquet, held at Peter Pan Inn, left the seniors happy and content.

These and other activities, both of social and academic significance, were climaxed by the graduation of the Class of '66.

Staffs Contribute Essential Services, Keep GHS Running Efficiently

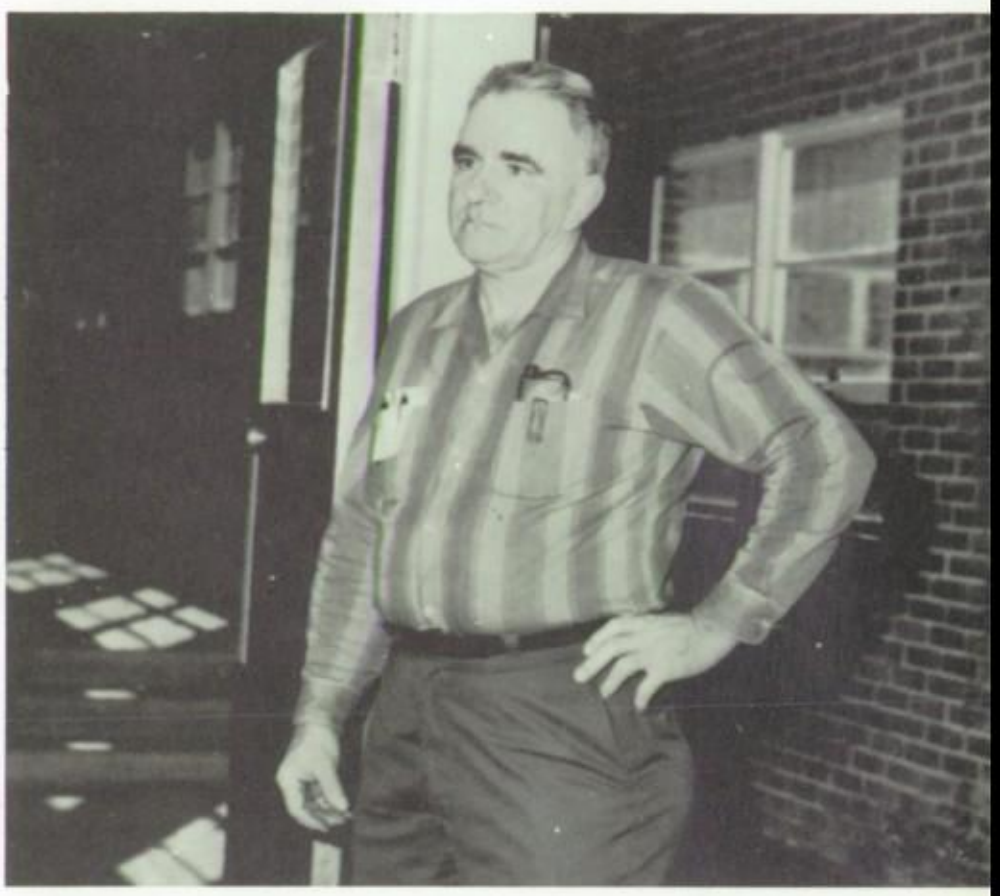
Directing the Instructional Materials Center were the two librarians and two library aides. Thirty-eight student assistants and Audio-Visual Club members aided them by devoting one or more periods each day to checking and shelving books, delivering and returning films, tape recorders and other equipment.

Working long hours, the custodial staff never lacked chores. Maintaining the appearance and cleanliness of the building provided them with such tasks as setting up chairs for assemblies, sweeping floors and cleaning up after dances and basketball games.

The G.H.S. cafeteria staff served approximately six hundred hot and cold lunches to hungry students each day. Besides lunches, they also prepared pies, cookies, and sticky buns as an added attraction.

Under the supervision of the school nurse, those students who wished to do so could take the tuberculosis skin test. Giving the hearing and vision tests was another responsibility the nurse had besides her every-day job of caring for students who were ill or injured.

In short, the staffs at GHS put forth a truly Trojan effort.



Mr. Whipp, head custodian, sighs, "What a mess!"

Mrs. Burdette, cafeteria manager, has discovered that she can hit four in a row with a paintbrush.

"It's time for another coffee break, isn't it?" wonder Mrs. Peebles and Mrs. Zuppas, library aides.

Organization may not be the BLUE & GOLD staff's strong point, but Karen Reehling and Hallie Lemont manage to work despite the clutter.

Journalism Students Practice Skills on Blue & Gold

Diane Patton demonstrates her unique ability to drive—without a car.

Although history of the theater was the main topic in drama class, students also practiced pantomimes, learned the phonetic alphabet, and produced plays. In English classes, students struggled with compositions, vocabulary, and English usage. They read widely for an appreciation of various types of literature and styles of writing. Public speaking classes provided opportunities for students to gain poise in speaking by presenting informative, persuasive, and entertaining speeches and by debating. Journalism students studied the facets of newspaper production; preparation of the Blue and Gold provided practical experience in tracking down news, editing copy, and working with lay outs.

Mrs. Christie indicates with her hand, "In Journalism, avoid using words longer than this."

If eye contact wins an audience, Karen Grigg won't lose anyone.

And now the Children's Hour—with Mrs. Freytag's tenth grade English class.

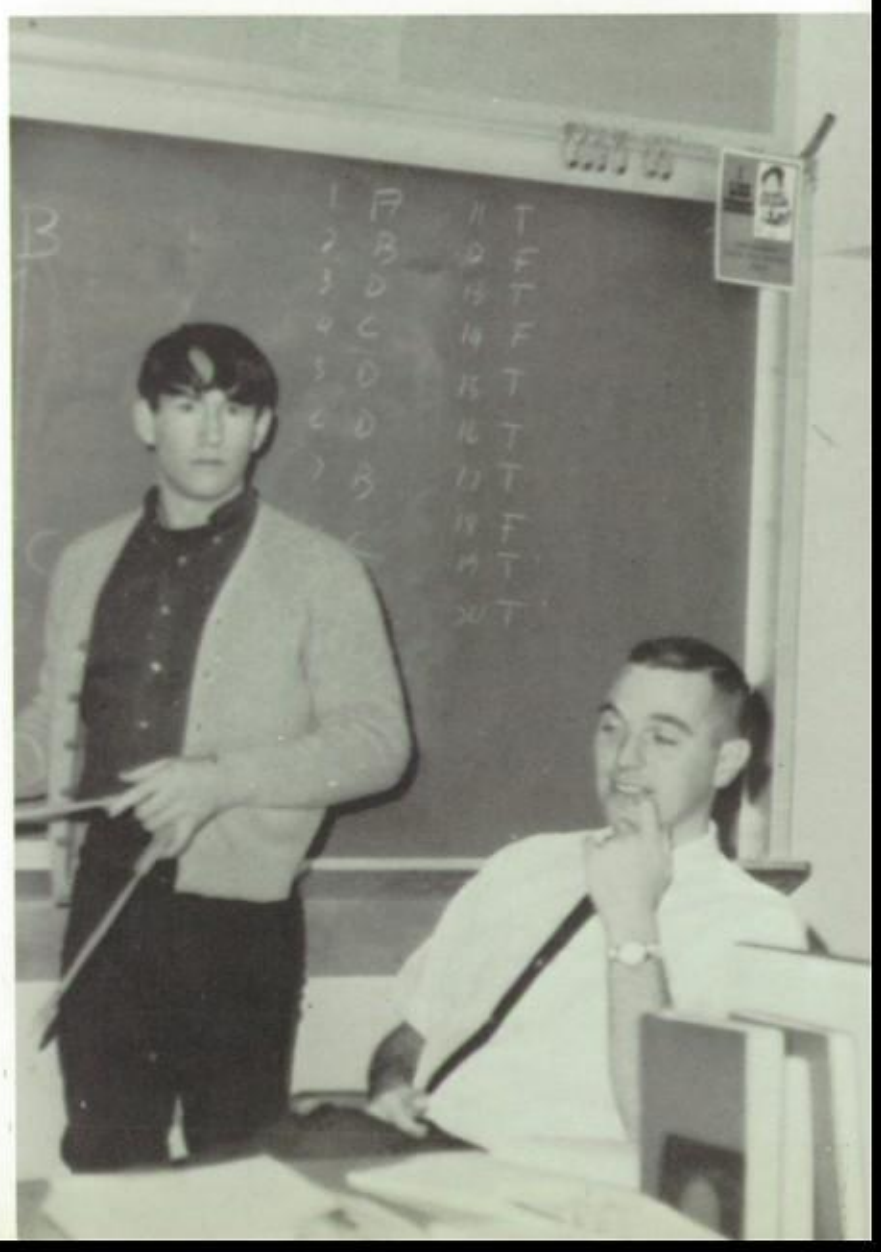
Analysis Class Studies Care and Feeding of Computers

"Ah, you there in the back row, this is not the time for sleeping," reminds Mrs. Drinkwater.

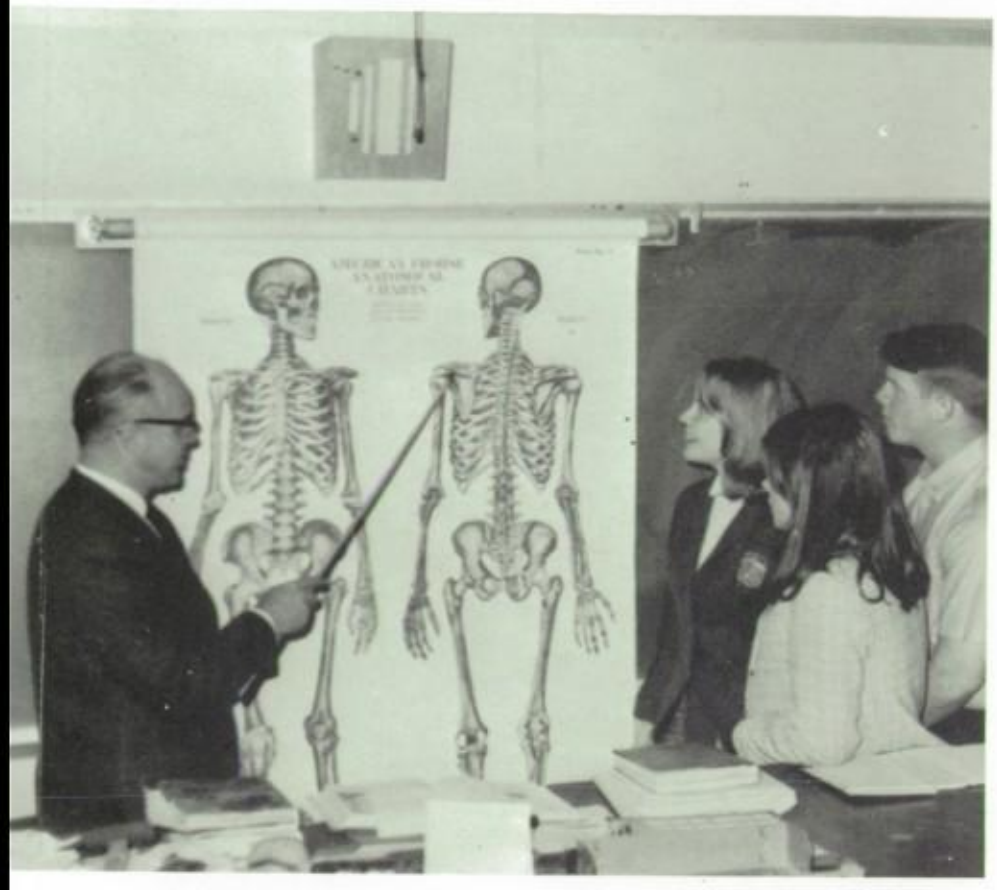
A wide course selection in mathematics provided students opportunity to master fundamentals and to move on to more complex ideas. After conquering algebra and geometry, students moved on to the more complicated aspects of Advanced Algebra and Trigonometry and Introductory Analysis. Although school has not yet been completely computerized, the Analysis class learned about the care and feeding of the modern computer. Through competition with teams from other schools, the math team gave students who enjoy mental combat an opportunity to exercise their minds. Occasional guest speakers on math-related topics supplemented classroom studies. General, business, and related math courses gave commercial, general, and vocational students practical preparation for their future careers.

At a math meet, surprise spreads over Valerie Leet's face as she discovers the solution to a problem.

"Framed by my own geometry teacher!" exclaims David Haythorn.

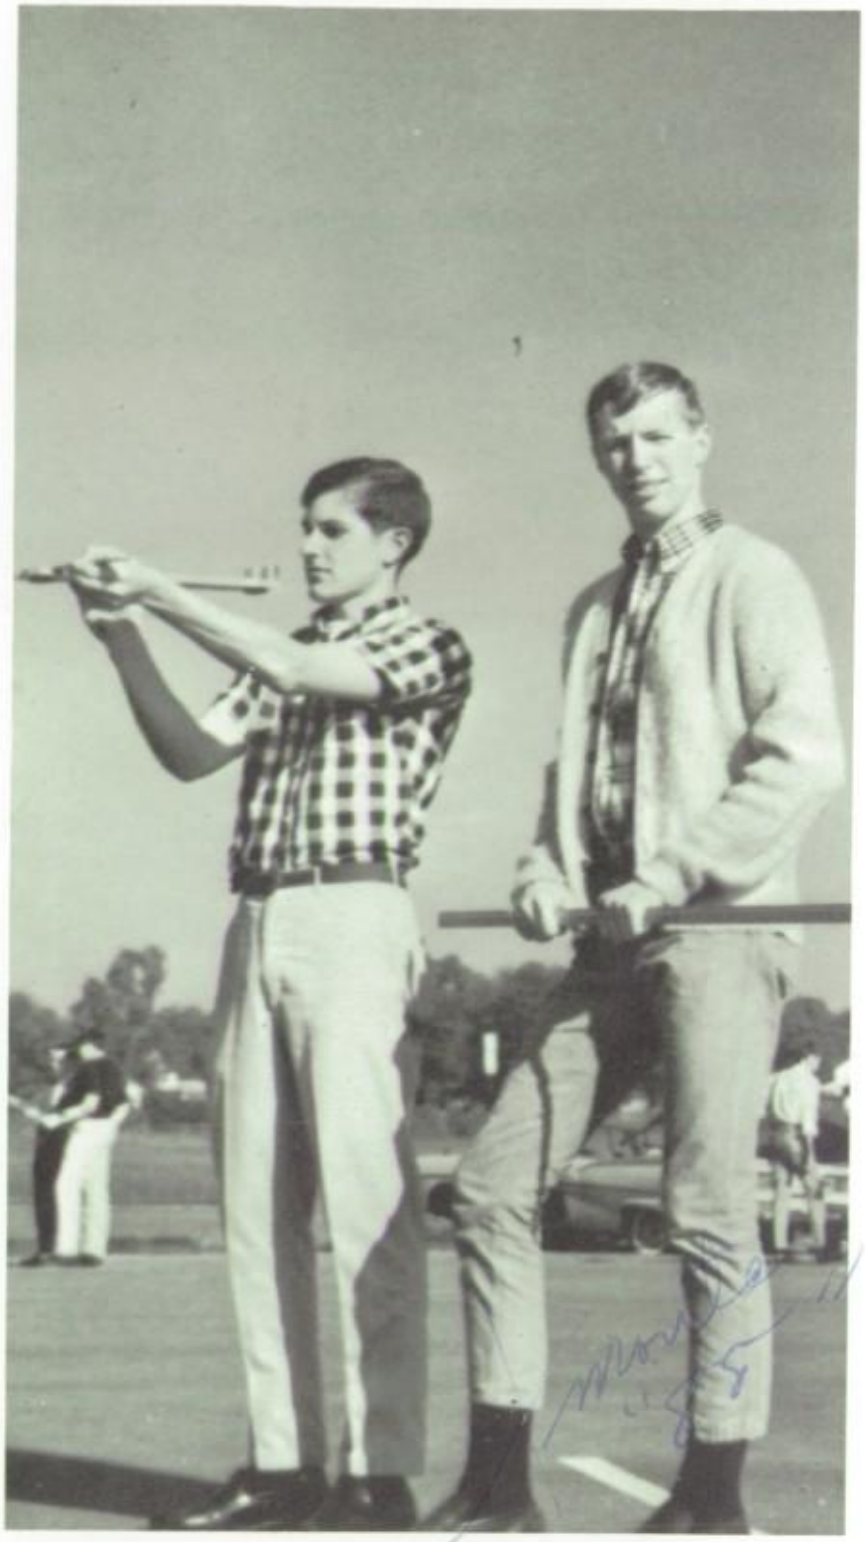


In a Biology II class, Mr. Erdlitz tediously teaches the human bone structure to Kitty Brdaley, Ed Beckman, and Amy Noble.



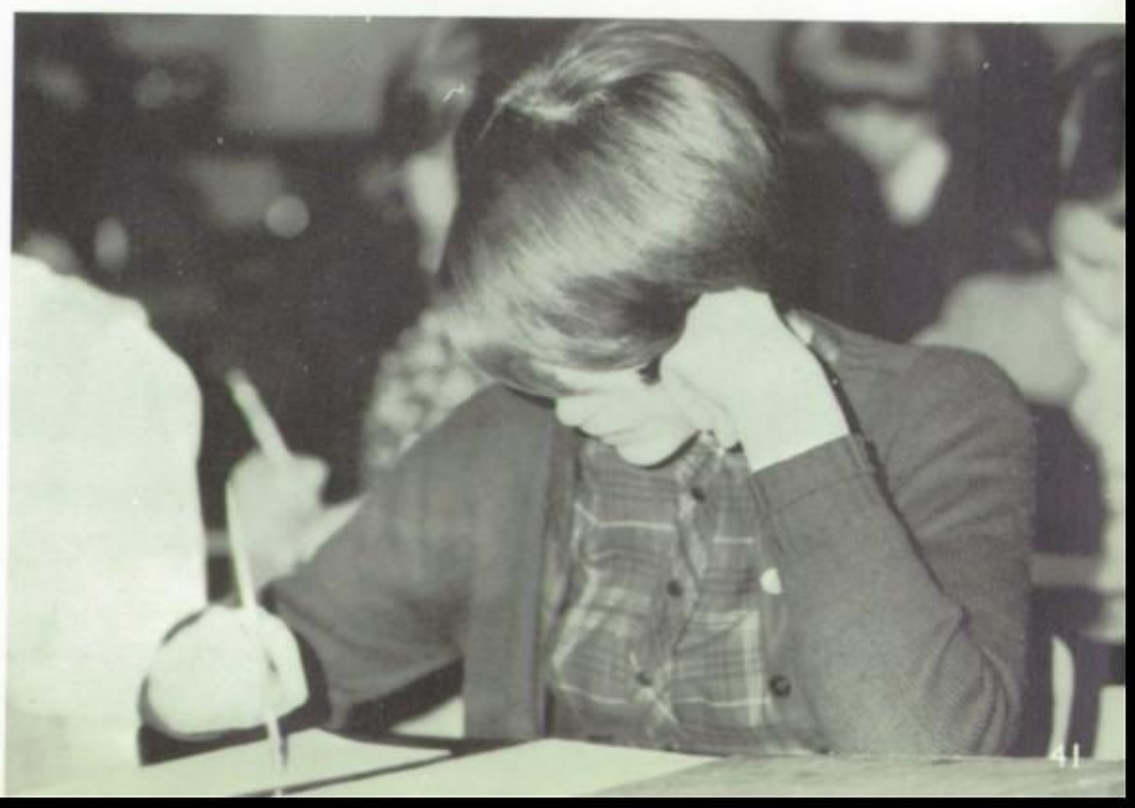
Lab-Oriented Courses Stress the Application of Concepts

When one walked into a chemistry room, he probably saw students working diligently on experiments and heard exclamations of surprise, frustration, and sometimes revelation. Chemistry, physics, biology, and other courses based on lab work helped students learn not only concepts but also the application of these. Biology students delved into the realm of physical occurrences, and amateur chemists experimented with the chemical reactions of the elements. Student horticulturists applied their knowledge of the growth and care of plants and of soil conservation by beautifying the school grounds.



While Pete Mitchell works diligently, something other than physics has attracted Monte Notton's attention.

In a biology class, this student tries writing with her eraser.



Debbie Garrison prefers the one-sided effect for listening to Spanish dialogues.

Twice a Week Early Birds Begin Day With Greek Class

"Now that you're in here, see if I'll let you out," thinks Mrs. Weld.

Energetic students could take early morning Greek classes twice a week on Tuesday and Fridays if they were able to rise in time to make the 8:10 class. Under the tutelage of Mr. Richard Crawford, these students began by learning the Greek alphabet and then proceeded to wade through the vocabulary lists and noun declensions. Students approached learning Latin by understanding the structure of the language and by building a vocabulary on this understanding. Not only did they master Latin structure and vocabulary, but they also dealt with the meaning of such philosophical sayings as "Nemo sine vitio est," meaning "No one is without fault." French and Spanish students continued to benefit from the audio-visual equipment and language laboratories, and in French classes, in addition to regular class routine, students put on skits in French for the rest of the class.

New York Trip, Mus-Art Ball Highlight Music, Art Classes

"Quiet on set! Roll 'em!" were key words for the third period choral group as they taped a Christmas program for WMAL's show "Here's Barbara." The Robed Choir, under the direction of Mr. William Earl, traveled many miles this year to entertain both young and old. A few of the many places where the Choir performed were Peary High School, the Rockville Civic Center, and the Asbury Methodist Home. At home the Choir presented the annual Christmas and Spring Concerts. A highlight of the year was the Thanksgiving trip to New York City. During the weekend stay, the group saw Broadway shows and other city sights. Sometimes accompanying the choir and other times traveling on their own, the band, directed by Miss Frieda Price, also traveled to put on many shows. Besides these performances, the band executed half-time shows at the home football games and presented several concerts. In April, Mr. Zett's art classes presented the Mus-Art Ball, a benefit dance to raise funds for the repairing of art masterpieces that had been damaged by the autumn flood in Florence, Italy.

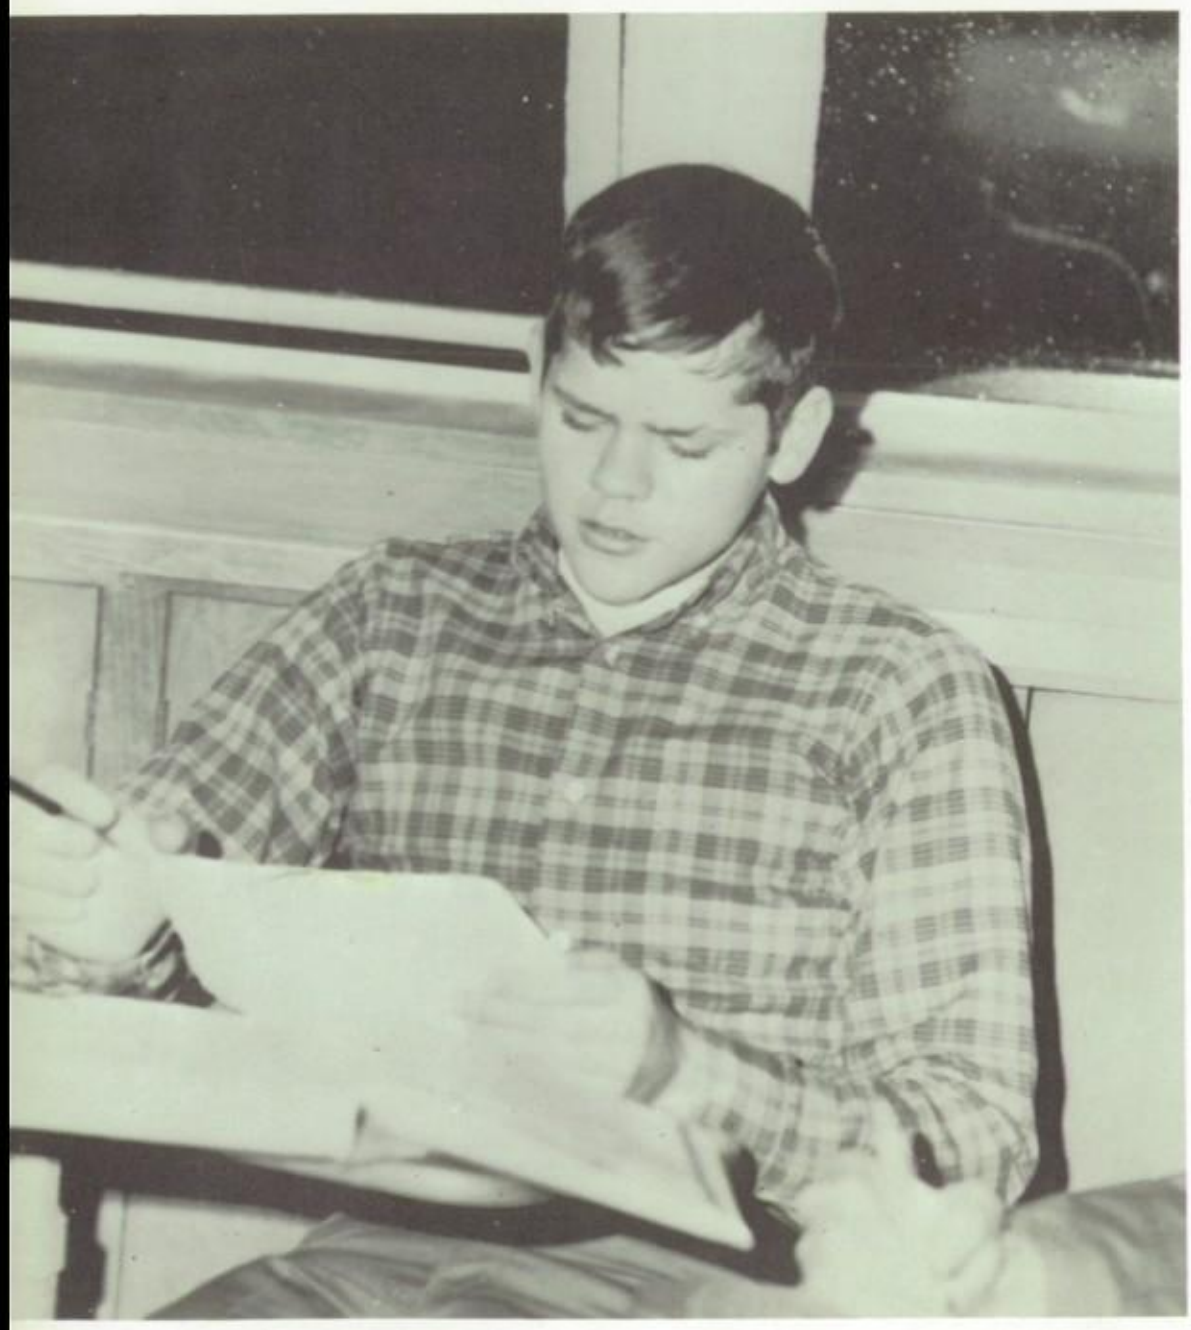
Frustrated with a clogged horn, Roger Bauer is determined to make a noise.

Mr. Earl manages to play the piano, direct the choir, and sing—all at once.

Mr. Zetts is curious to know why Connie Gibson has finished and Gary Jones hasn't.

Guest Speakers Help Spur

Apparently, Miss Knoblock is as engrossed with US History as her students are.



"What do you mean Lady Godiva wasn't an essential historical figure?" questions Pat Thornburgh.

"You remember that story about . . . ? Well, here's how it really happened . . . , " begins Mr. Shugarts.

Interest in POTC Students

Social studies took on a new look this year. Ninth grade U.S. History and Government students used a library of paper back books in a research-oriented program. Economics and Sociology students worked in small discussion groups three days a week and spent the remaining two days on independent study in the library. In eleventh grade U.S. History, three teachers taught both large and small groups in a team-teaching program. Problems of the Twentieth Century classes gained insight into present-day issues through study, discussion, and information presented by many outside speakers, who spoke on such topics as the John Birch Society, drug addiction and the Head Start Program. Modern European History students followed the paths of man throughout the history of Europe, while World History students acquainted themselves with the history of people in all parts of the world. Geography gave students a background in the topography of the earth.

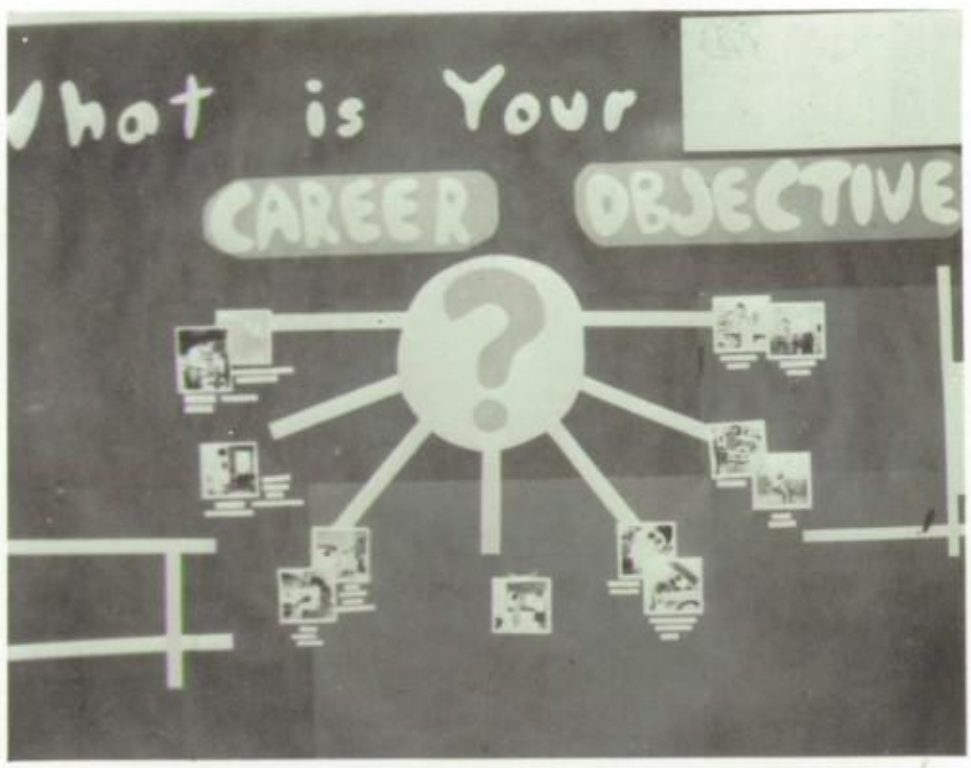
Beth Nichols thinks, "If I try very hard, maybe I can convince myself that I like history."

Since when did studying become the favorite pastime of Larry Hammann and Barry Ryan?

"Four score and seven years ago . . . " begins Mr. Porter.

Preparation for Future Jobs

Secretaries couldn't get along without office assistants like Mary Jane Combs.



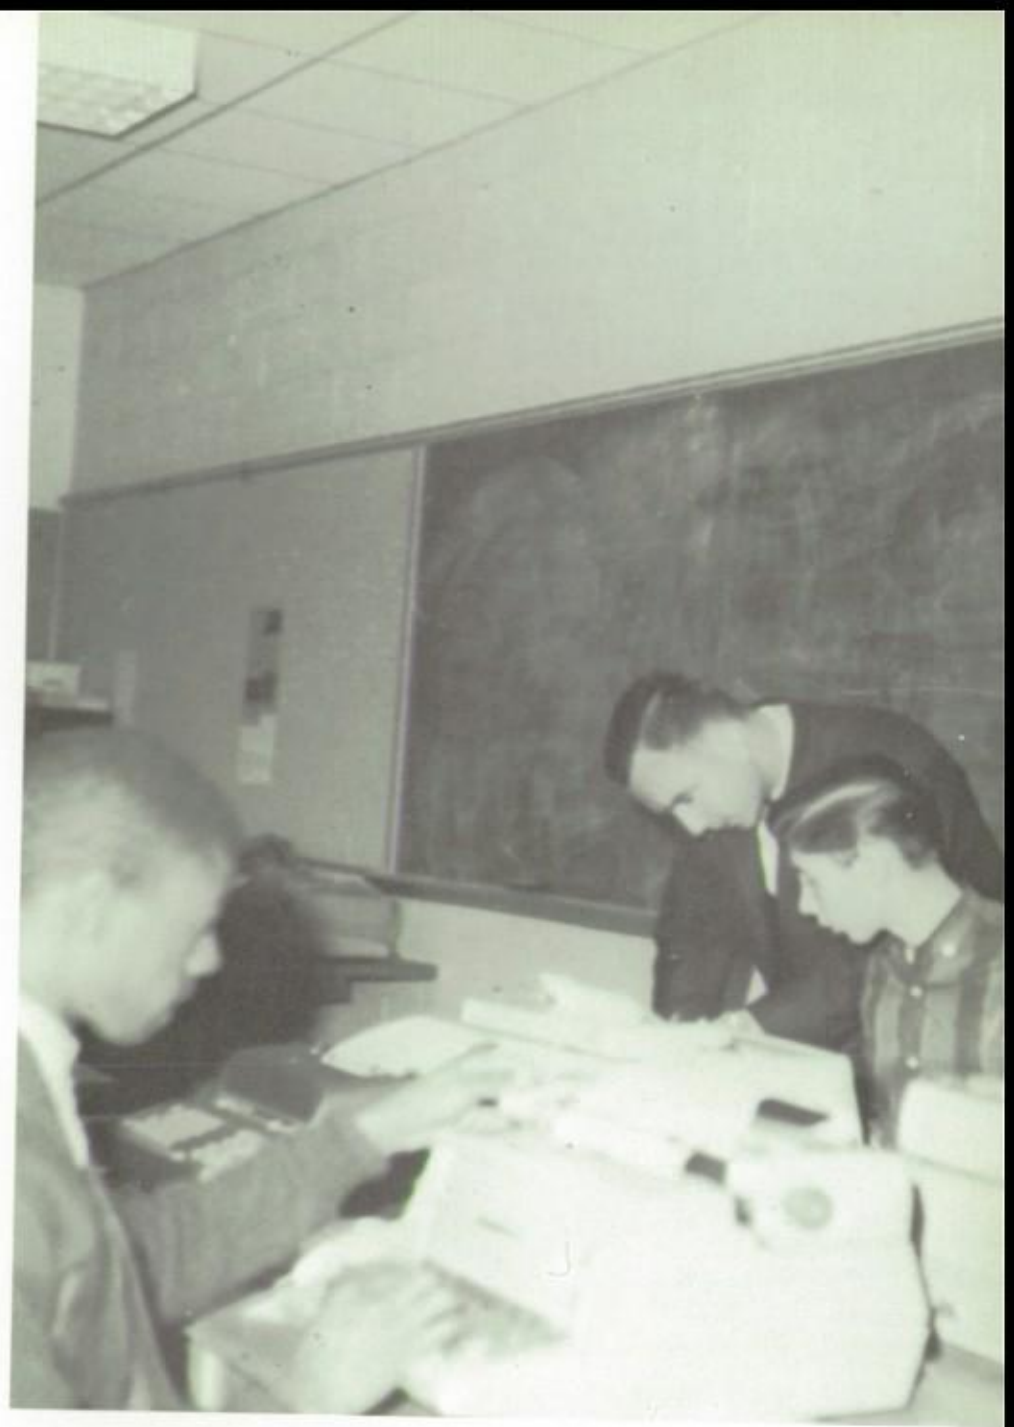
The guidance office is proud of the bulletin board which shows the commercial courses offered here at GHS.

"Yes, we're going to practice our brief forms again," says Mrs. Hatter.

Commercial courses helped to prepare many students for future jobs in the working world. The course selections included a variety of subjects such as typing, shorthand, business administration, bookkeeping, business math, and business office practice. As well as learning business techniques, students served as office assistants. Besides commercial students, students pursuing an academic diploma supplemented their program with typing and shorthand in order to prepare them for their work load in college and to train them for summer jobs.

Is Aim of Commercial Classes

What Mr. Kopera isn't telling them is that the bookie gets 50% of the take.



"You're really making progress—sixteen words per minute," encourages Mr. Solomon.

Home Arts, Industrial Arts Serve School Through Projects

Emphasizing consumer education and home management, the Home Arts department taught students basic skills in homemaking while encouraging service to the school and community. Opportunities for courses in Industrial Arts included woodworking, drafting, and graphic arts. Students in Industrial Arts undertook a number of projects for the school including the building of the set for the play Laura and the printing of tickets for various school functions. Through their work these students developed an appreciation for craftsmanship and design. In preparing students for jobs after graduation, Auto Mechanics offered them not only a background in theory, but also an opportunity to apply these theories in practice. In the Drycleaning and Tailoring program, unique to GHS, students learned technical and mechanical skills necessary in maintaining and restoring woven apparel. In Cosmetology, basic training in hairdressing and in manicuring prepared girls for future jobs in all branches of this field. The program included an annual Hairstyling Competition and a Haircoloring Clinic. Vocational Agriculture was designed to fit persons for gainful employment in any occupation involving knowledge of and skills in agricultural subjects. Students were offered studies in two broad categories—Agriculture and Horticulture.

Basic Courses Related to Jobs in Work-Oriented Program

During twelve weeks, divided between classroom instruction and actual driving practice, students developed into proficient and careful drivers. Distributive Education and Work-Oriented Curriculum allowed participating students to divide the school day between job training and related subjects.

Health Unit Supplements Physical Education Program

"He flies through the air with the greatest of ease . . . " might have been the lyrics suggested by students' activities in gymnastics. Working with such apparatus as the rings and ropes, students presented a picture of swinging proficiency. Not only did they fly across, but also up and over as they did somersaults and flips on the trampoline and mini-tramp. Besides gymnastics, there was a wide range of activities, including individual and team sports. After school, both girls and boys found opportunity for more sports activities in the intramural programs. In both girls' and boys' physical education classes, health units were part of the programs.

Class of '67 Reaches New Status as Mighty Seniors

Returning for their last year of high school, the members of the Class of '67 readily assumed their newly attained status of Seniors. Starting in early September, they assumed their leadership and academic responsibilities and began making their last contributions to GHS during the final stretch.

In the fall, returning seniors found many new students, among them being Yara de Calvalho, foreign exchange student from Brazil. Yara, with her lively personality, quickly became a part of every aspect of GHS life.

With the election of class officers, the annual Senior activities began. The year started off with a bang as the Trojan football team defeated RMHS for the first time in seven years and went on to capture the Montgomery County Football Championship. During Homecoming Week, the Class of '67 demonstrated zeal and unity to win the trophy for "Most School Spirit."

Throughout the following months, Seniors, posing for pictures and ordering name cards and announcements, first realized the proximity of graduation. Many '67'ers devoted much of their time to job interviews, college applications, and achievement tests in trying to establish post-graduate plans.

Seniors exuberantly greeted the Christmas holidays only to return to the madness of semester exams and the hectic preparation of the annual GHS "Follies." Easter was followed by the three-night performance of "About Face" and the anticipation of the forthcoming culminating Senior activities. The school year began to come to a close as the Class of '67 continued the annual tradition of holding the Senior Banquet at Peter Pan Inn. The formal event of the year, the Junior-Senior Prom, took place at the Indian Springs Country Club in May. Seniors celebrated their day by having breakfast and lunch together, teaching, and spoofing school activities.

The end of the year came into view with the long-awaited event of graduation, which the Seniors had previously voted to hold at their Alma Mater. With graduation came the parting of many old ways, but the Seniors had many rewarding and memorable experiences to take with them as they found new paths to travel.

Class of '68 Elects Lefebure, Germon, Crawford, Fink to Electing class officers was one of the first jobs tackled by the Class of '68. Then, with over a month of experience as Juniors behind them, they turned their thoughts and energies towards Homecoming. They made posters and pins, built a Homecoming float, and held a pep rally in the gym.

Next on the agenda was the excitement of ordering and waiting for class rings. When the rings arrived, the Juniors proudly displayed them, comparing sizes and shapes of stones.

In December the Juniors sponsored a bake sale; in March, a dance. The proceeds of both these projects were used for the Junior-Senior Prom.

Throughout the year, the Juniors eagerly anticipated their future status as Seniors.

With the addition of the Freshmen, the Sophomores, for the first time in four years, were not the youngest class at G'burg. Swinging into high school life, the Class of '69 quickly adapted to the new surroundings. They elected class officers, attended sports events, and participated in several clubs. On Sophomore Day they held a pep rally with the Sophomore members of the JV football team acting as cheerleaders. The following Saturday at the Homecoming game they won the second place trophy for their float "Sink the Barons."

Throughout the year they found new ways of expressing their spirit and imagination even though they were caught up in the whirl of new experiences and studies.

Freshmen Arrive at High School as Divided Class of '70

An overcrowded junior high plus a recent addition to the senior high added up to a move for approximately 250 Freshmen whose last names fell between L and Z. After a few bewildering weeks they settled into the routine of new teachers, new studies, and new activities.

Under the administration's new policy concerning the Freshmen, the ninth graders were permitted to join any club which had been offered at the junior high and the students of both schools were invited to attend all senior high functions. As a result of this policy, the attendance at school dances, as well as at sports activities, increased markedly throughout the year.

Eagerly, the Freshmen looked forward to next year, when reunited with the other half of their class, they should form the largest Sophomore Class ever at the high school.

When They Will Comprise Largest Class in G'burg History

"Nothing like an ice cream sandwich for a well-balanced meal!" exclaims Bob Newhouse.

Activities . . .

"Our road is not built to last a thousand years, yet in a sense it is. When a road is once built, it is a strange thing how it collects traffic, how every year as it goes on, more and more people are found to walk thereon, and others are raised up to repair and perpetuate it, and keep it alive."

SAIL ON Increases Size, Adds Colored Endsheets

After students filled out SAIL ON applications and were accepted last spring, the work began. The staff decided to change the size of the yearbook, making it larger in all dimensions, and to add colored endsheets. The increase in size meant that all sections could include more and larger pictures in an effort to provide a comprehensive record of the year.

The staff worked calmly through the summer, then a little more frantically for each succeeding deadline, reaching the peak of activity in March, when the final deadline was met. Amid all the changes, the traditional secret was kept: the student body did not know the color or design of the cover until the book arrived in June.

The staff proudly presents the fruits of their year's labor—the 1967 SAIL ON.

Don't cry, Sara. We were only kidding when we said we'd quit.

Editor Sara King confers with Mrs. Horn on SAIL ON write-ups.

"That microdot sure is hard to see!" exclaims Brian Knode.

Andrea Gibbs pauses in her typing while Karen Grigg, Editor, makes a suggestion for a change.

Brenda Hogston and Betsy Jacobs seem pleased with the SAIL ON's elaborate decor.

Honor Society Offers Two Scholarships to Class of '67

This year the Honor Society decided to give two scholarships instead of one. What did this decision necessitate? More activity, of course. In the fall, the honor society sponsored a dance; during the winter, they sold candy at all home basketball games; and in the spring, the members held their annual cupcake sale.

In addition to sponsoring scholarships, the members decided to try to raise academic interest in the school. Introducing a new plan, they set aside a room for tutoring, which was done by the members before and after school.

In the spring the organization held its annual induction ceremony, taking in juniors and seniors who met the high standards of scholarship, leadership, character, and service.

Really, Scott, do you have to make such a mess?

AFS Sponsors Pledge Drive to Finance Exchange Student

Taking some time to enjoy the fruits of last year's labors, the AFS worked with an eye on the future. The AFS sponsored an assembly at which Keith Beck, who, through the AFS, spent last summer in Belgium, shared some of his experiences with the student body by speaking about his trip and showing slides. At a second assembly Yara de Carvalho, our GHS exchange student from Brazil, spoke about her homeland. Donned in a carnival costume, Yara related some of the things which teenagers in Brazil enjoy, the most popular activity being the annual carnival. Looking ahead, the club sponsored fund-raising activities to bring a foreign exchange student to Gaithersburg next year. In the fall, members held the traditional bake sale at home football games. Next on their list of fall activities was a successful dance featuring the "Banned." Spring came and so did a pledge drive during which they asked students to pledge a dollar or more in order to perpetuate the AFS program.

As an important link with the administration, the Student Council, occupying new quarters, continued to serve the student body. They assisted in preparing for the school's evaluation. Under the leadership of Chris Holmes, several committees were set up to deal with various problems. One committee worked with the faculty on the cafeteria committee, which helped to improve the quality of the lunches and raised money for cafeteria curtains. A major project was the rewriting of the student handbook; obsolete passages were deleted and new information which was pertinent to the student body was added.

Once again the council held many of their annual activities. For the second year they sponsored the "Gifts-for-Giving" project, in which 300 gifts were collected for mental patients to give their families at Christmas. They honored the parents of our athletes by holding a "Dad's Day" during football season and a "Mom's Night" during basketball and wrestling seasons.

Secretary Betsy Jacobs is busy keeping up with the business at hand.

Shelley Spaulding finds Senate business amusing.

Senate meetings enable sophomore, junior, and senior senators to get together and express their opinions.

Not only was the Senate larger this year, but it was also more active. The 46-member student organization got things done. They started the year by planning a week's homecoming activities which included class-spirit days, a bonfire, a parade, and a dance. Not content with just one success, they forged ahead and helped the student council revise the student handbook. When Christmas rolled around, they swept into action again and helped the student council in their Gifts-for-Giving project. In the spring they took to the great out-of-doors and had the school student parking lot repaired.

Minor problems concerned the location of the Trojan plaque and the new trophy case. The Trojan plaque was placed on the wall in N Corridor; the trophy case will be located in the gym area.

As a minority speaking for a majority, through homeroom elections, they aired student problems and complaints and formed an important link between the students and administration.

Senate members register different reactions to the topic being discussed.

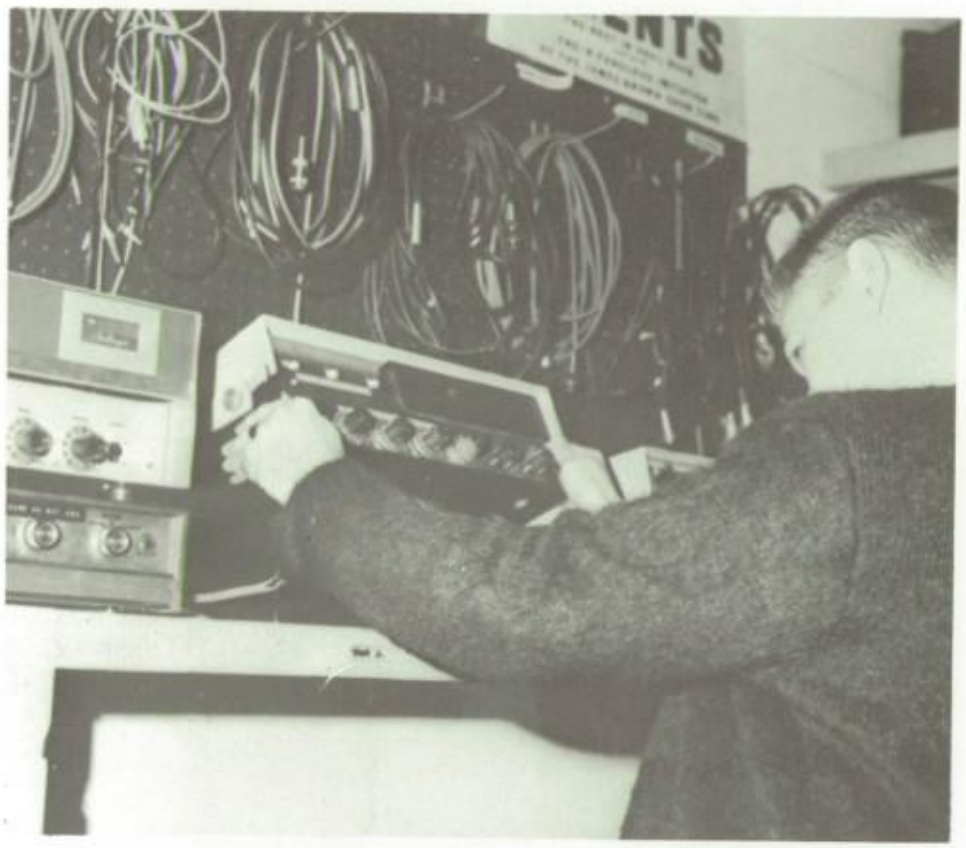
AV Initiates Girls into the World of Film Projection

For the first time, the AV Club added girls to its rostrum. Under the supervision of Miss Culotta, the Audio Visual Club was busy assisting teachers by setting up projectors, making minor service repairs on the AV equipment, and showing films. In October, along with the Library Club, the club sponsored a dance at which Gentleman Jim Madison of Radio station WPGC was the master of ceremonies. To earn enough money for new equipment, the club also sold Trojan pens and pencils. The AV club members proved invaluable not only by aiding teachers, but also by coordinating sound and lighting at school assemblies, at dances, and at the Follies.



AV Club members work with various types of equipment.

DECA Members Put Classroom Training to Use on Jobs

What is DECA? It is the Distributive Education Clubs of America, a nation-wide youth organization operated through public schools. DECA's aim is to train future leaders for careers in distributing, managing, and marketing. The twenty-seven DECA members studied a half day and maintained part-time jobs that complemented their academic training. Through these jobs, students gained experience in their occupations by applying actual skills and concepts learned in DE classes. Selling advertising space in the football program provided the club with enough funds to send their members to a contest in Baltimore to compete with other DE students from across the country in a public speaking contest. The DECA members were also active during DECA week in November and put up a display to explain their organization to the rest of the student body.

By functioning through several committees within the club, the Kiwanis-sponsored Key Club combined service to the school and community, fund raising, and social highlights for an active and profitable year. The project committee devised means of raising money, such as selling peanut brittle, selling soft drinks at home basketball games, and sponsoring a donkey basketball game between the faculty and club members. These money-making efforts culminated in the presentation of a scholarship to a graduating senior. The social committee also planned events for the enjoyment of the club, one of which was the annual hayride. In addition they planned the Key Club Ball in cooperation with the Keyettes, which this year was held in March instead of on the traditional mid-semester date. A new event on the club social calendar was the selection of the Key Club Sweetheart. Brenda Hogston represented this chapter and went on to be chosen District Sweetheart.

Patrols Aid Movement of Students Through Halls, on Buses

Confusion in the halls during the year was kept to a minimum by the Patrols. On the job between every class, they eliminated numerous traffic jams. Making sure students boarded buses and rode to school in an orderly manner kept the bus patrols busy. Patrols' duties also included the raising of the flags before school.

Sponsored by Mr. Charles Brady, the organization proved to be a great asset to the school. As a reward for their many services, they were given free admission to an Oriole-Senator baseball game and were honored at the Patrol Christmas Party and the Patrol Picnic. Profits made from the December dance were used for needed equipment and for transportation to their activities.

Humorous Poetry Entry Places First at Speech Tournament

"Resolved: That the Foreign Aid Program of the United States Should Be Limited to Non-Military Assistance" was the topic debated at the three county speech tournaments. Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Walthall, students debated both the affirmative and the negative aspects of the subject. During public speaking classes, the opposing sides debated each other for practice and then went on to the tournaments for interscholastic competition. Through research, logic, and hard work, the participants in both junior varsity and varsity debating won many rounds of their debates.

Not only did students debate, but many entered individual events, from extemporaneous speaking to dramatic interpretation. Joyce Reehling captured for Gaithersburg the first-place award in humorous poetry. Participants who received twenty-five points or more in the three tournaments were inducted into the National Forensics League.

Monthly Editions of Blue and Gold Keep Students Informed.

Working hard to meet monthly deadlines, the Blue and Gold staff provided an accurate record of school activities. Through the combined efforts of the staff and the journalism class, the students were presented with the details of all school projects. Features and humorous articles brightened the students' days, while editorials and letters to the editor inspired them to better their school. Photographers, hoping to find a scoop, were often seen snapping candid pictures of students in their daily activities or at special events. The return to the newsprint style of paper facilitated the publication of the paper and added to its attractiveness. Profits from the dance held in September aided in financing the paper. Under the guidance of Mrs. Molly Christie, the staff made the sale of the Blue and Gold an event looked forward to by all.

Library Club Assists Librarians, Sell Trojan Booster Pins

While learning basic library skills, the Library Club members assisted the librarians in doing daily tasks. Managing the charge desk, shelving books, filing, and putting up bulletin board displays were some of their many services to the school. By aiding the librarians they helped the Instructional Materials Center to operate efficiently.

Under the sponsorship of Miss Betty Culotta, the club participated in regional and state library club organizations. Giving a faculty tea during National Library Week in April was one of their many activities. Along with the Audio-Visual Club they held a dance and sold pens, pencils, and Trojan booster pins. At the end of the year, the club gave each graduating member a book of his or her own choice.

FTA Speakers Elaborate on Various Types of Education

Meeting every other Wednesday was a lively group of students, all sharing a common interest in the qualifications of a successful teacher. Members of the Maxwell E. Burdette chapter of the Future Teachers of America, named for a former principal, heard a graduate of Gaithersburg and a guest speaker from Rock Terrace School elaborate on special and high school education. The club planned to visit the Maryland State School for the Deaf in Frederick in the spring, to observe teachers and the special methods employed in teaching deaf students. On April 15, several club representatives attended the convention in Maryland for future teachers. The profits from their dance held in the fall were used to finance the club's activities. Trojan Players Successfully Produce First Drama, 'Laura'

"Who killed Laura Hunt?" This question kept everyone on the edge of his seat as the Trojan Players, for the first time, by-stepped comedy and presented the murder mystery Laura for their annual fall production. An extensive use of sound effects added suspense and realism to the production.

In addition to Laura, the Drama Club for the fifth consecutive year presented the Junior-Senior One-Act Play Festival. The Thespian trophies were awarded at the conclusion of the night's performance. A trophy was also given to the senior who had contributed the most to dramatics. Trojan Players and drama students, through work in the drama class, gained both knowledge and experience in all phases of the theater.

Tournaments, Intramurals Afford Practice for Chess Fans

Tripling its membership over the past year and emerging with a host of skilled and seasoned players, the Chess Club had a most profitable year. Under the direction of Mr. Arthur Martin, both novice and advanced players had the opportunity to enjoy the merits of the age-old sport of playing chess. New participants learned and stored away valuable strategies and approaches to the game with every win and loss. For the "old pros," a chance to match wits and techniques with one another provided a fascinating pastime. Feature attractions for the thirty members were a meet with the faculty, matches among themselves, and regular intramurals with other schools.

Future Scientist Sponsor 'Previews of Progress' Assembly

Not only of interest to future scientists, but also to the entire student body was the General Motors Assembly, "Previews of Progress," sponsored by the Future Scientists of America Chapter. Mr. Steve Gain, the narrator of the assembly, exhibited the designs for an air-cushioned vehicle and presented the wonders of a gyroscope and the powers of a jet engine.

Members of the club were encouraged to participate in the county Science Fair held in the spring. Students' projects that won an award at the fair were entered in the state competition. Under the leadership of Stu Wrenn and the direction of Mr. James Schweitzer, the club explored all phases of science that interested them but were most impressed by a lecture from an areo-physicist from the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

FFA Receives Gold Emblem for Outstanding Achievement

For the first time, girls participated in FFA activities on the local level. These girls were members of either the horticulture or agriculture classes.

In October, FFA president Sam King represented the group at the National Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, where the chapter received the coveted Gold Emblem Award. The chapter participated in the Frederick Livestock Judging Contest, held its annual basketball tournament, landscaped areas on the school grounds, and conducted a safety campaign. Throughout its activities, the FFA kept its purposes in mind: to develop leadership, good citizenship, and agricultural skills.

The FFA's many activities are represented in the show case during FFA Week.

"Gee, one more hit ought to do it," thinks Nick Higgins.

Newly Formed Keyettes Help Key Club Present March Ball

The Keyette Club, which is sponsored by the Ki-Wives of Gaithersburg and directed by Mrs. Mary Ann Davis, was established this year as a service organization to both the school and the community. Proving the worthiness of their group, the Keyettes assisted the Key Club in presenting the March Ball, at which Betsy Jacobs was crowned the reigning queen.

The girls showed their enthusiasm through the money-raising project of collecting the deposits on Coca Cola bottles. While the sale of basketball programs made a profit for the club, the programs also assisted the basketball fans. The seriousness of the Keyettes was evident through their efforts to care for the special education students who waited at our school for buses. Other services to the school included beautifying many bulletin boards and aiding teachers in their after-school duties.

Medical Careers Club Believe Experience Is Best Teacher

Aided by the addition of the ninth graders, the Medical Careers Club expanded its activities. Under the direction of Mrs. Patricia Grant, members learned basic skills involved in the field of medicine. For first hand information they visited hospitals. They also viewed films and had guest speakers at some of their meetings.

Besides helping the nurse, the girls also found time for other school activities. They entered a float in the Homecoming competition. They raised funds by holding bake sales throughout the year. Club members who were graduating received bandage scissors as a sign of achievement on the road to a medical career.

MCC members work diligently on their Homecoming float.

Math Club Solves Equations at County Interscholastic Meets

"If $10^2y=25$; then $10—y=?$" This was one of the easier problems the Math Club encountered at the interscholastic meets. Seniors, having the advantage of instruction in Introductory Analysis, were leading participants; however, outstanding mathematicians from the junior and sophomore classes made valuable contributions. Along with the guidance of Mr. Steve Checkon, the team also had another factor working for them this year; several girls from the math classes were "cheerleaders," helping the club by always being present with "food for thought." In several joint meetings with the Science Club, the Math Club also had the pleasure of listening to guest speakers.

Cheerleaders Change to New Uniforms, Cheers, Sponsors

Cheerleading at GHS took on a new look this year. Fashion-conscious as ever, the varsity squad obtained new winter uniforms with the help of the Pep Club. However, new uniforms were not the only difference. Under their new sponsor, Miss Jean Pence, the girls experimented with new styles of cheers and rearranged old favorites to accommodate eight girls instead of the traditional nine. The wrestling cheerleaders started their second year with changes too. Under the leadership of a new sponsor, Mrs. Caterina Beim, they increased their squad to seven girls and added a mascot. The JV cheerleaders were composed of six girls. Under their new sponsor, Mrs. Sharon Freytag, they helped to publicize JV football games and added a mascot to cheer with them during basketball season. Through all of these changes, the girls retained their spirit and helped arouse enthusiasm for many phases of the Trojans' extra-curricular activities. They found time not only to work for others, but also managed a few fund-raising activities for themselves. In the fall they sponsored the first band dance of the year and sold Trojan beanies and pens.

Pep Club Places First in Homecoming Float Competition

Homecoming's first place float trophy was awarded to the Pep Club for their float depicting a Trojan warrior and his chariot. At every football game volunteers from the club sold programs containing our players' pictures. The profits from the sale of these programs were given to the athletic fund. The club also donated money to the cheerleaders for the purchase of new uniforms. In the L'il Abner tradition, the Pep Club sponsored a Sadie Hawkins Dance. The lucky ticket holder at the dance received as a door prize an "outhouse door." Some of the club's other activities included arousing Trojan Backers and selling Bottles of School Spirit. Advised by Mr. Hans Gaussman and presided over by Linda Wilson, the club met every Thursday to devise new methods of boosting school patriotism.

Majorettes and Drill Team Perform at Bonfire, Pep Rallies

Performing regularly at half-time during football games were the Majorettes and Drill Team. The Majorettes also performed at basketball games. Their presentations added spark to the Homecoming bonfire and spirit to the school pep rallies. Under the guidance of their adviser, Miss Barbara Hill, the club sponsored a "Friday Night Majorette Dance." Proceeds from this dance were used to buy uniforms for all the girls, including the alternates who were added to the regular squad later.

Another part of the half-time performance was provided by the Drill Team. Wearing blue and white uniforms, they carried the state, country, and school flags at the football pre-game ceremonies. Sponsored by Miss Frieda Price, the six girls on the squad marched in the Gaithersburg Labor Day Parade and the Bethesda Christmas Parade. They also featured the Stardusters at a dance in April for their year's money-making project.

Stardusters Add Sparkle to Assemblies, School Productions

Spreading their talents far and wide, the Stardusters performed at numerous events during the school year. They provided a jazzy beginning and end to the Homecoming Talent Show and many assemblies. During the few frantic weeks before Follies, they practiced nearly every morning, memorizing numerous scores for the production. In the midst of preparing for Follies, the Stardusters were honored by being asked to perform at the Sunday dinner for the evaluators. Somewhere in between engagements, they found time to prepare and polish selected numbers for their winter and spring concerts. For the first time, three female members were added to the group. They were Toni Marshall, trombonist; Jeanne Gartner, saxophonist; and Claudette Owens, flutist. The Stardusters' unique and diverse manner of performing helped to enliven many school activities during the year.

Steve Hayes and Stu Wrenn provide a lively beat for students leaving the assembly.

Enthusiastic Pom Pom Girls Spark Pep Rallies, Track Meets

Bright gold skirts, navy-blue sweaters, fluffy yellow pom poms, and bright smiles typified the energetic Pom Pom Squad. Throughout the year, this group of girls was advised by Mrs. Gail Phillips. Cathy Jones, captain, supervised the squad in rewriting their constitution. Besides performing at basketball games and pep rallies, the girls turned out to support the track team. All of the routines they performed were original, with an emphasis on jazz. In March the squad held a dance to honor the basketball players. Their other activities included planning some type of entertainment for the track team and making a donation to the American Field Service. The girls ended their active and successful year with the selection of next year's members.

High-Stepping Instrumentalists Perform During Half-time

As both a marching and a concert unit, the band, under the direction of Miss Freda Price, performed at many functions in the school and the community. Led by drum majorette Barbara Hagen and featuring twirler John Potocko, the band marched at home football games as well as in the Labor Day and the Bethesda Christmas Parades. After football season, these versatile instrumentalists directed their efforts toward preparing for their winter and spring concerts, in which they presented a variety of pop, semi-classical, and novelty numbers. The band also performed service to the community by playing at the opening of Gaithersburg Square and at the dedication of the new Fairchild-Hiller Corporation.

Thanksgiving Trip to New York Highlights Choral Activities

At 6 a.m. on Thanksgiving morning, forty excited choral students stepped aboard a chartered Greyhound Bus on their way to a fun-filled, four-day holiday in New York. Arriving in the heart of the city at 10:30 a.m., the students were just in time to see Macy's Thanksgiving Day Parade. On a tour of the town, the choral students visited such places as the Empire State Building, Radio City Music Hall, and China Town. The highlight of their weekend was the evening performance of the Broadway show "Hello Dolly."

The Girls' Chorus, an addition to the Robed Choir, made two television appearances during the Christmas season. The entire chorus, numbering 190, spent much time preparing for their Christmas and spring concerts and singing at various schools and organizations in the county.

"We wish you a Merry Christmas," sings the Girls' Chorus at the annual Christmas concert.

RMHS, Nine Other Teams Fall to Trojan Eleven,

Pat Fitz and Charley Frazier provide protection for Anthony Greene against Richard Montgomery.

In securing the Montgomery County AA championship, the '66-'67 football team showed great form in all departments. This year's 10-0 record, under the county's newly adopted point system, brought the first football championship trophy to Gaithersburg's trophy case. The Trojan offensive attack, scoring 214 points, was one of the most potent in the league. Not to be outdone, the defense yielded only 56 points to the opposition and turned the tide of battle many times with bone-crushing tackles.

Each Saturday the team showed why they were destined to be champs. For the first time in seven years the traditional opening game with Richard Montgomery was won by the Trojans with a score of 14-7. On the first play from scrimmage Calvin Fitz swept left end and raced 63 yards to give the Trojans a 6-0 lead. Charley Frazier kicked the extra point to make it 7-0. Later, Anthony Greene, rookie quarterback, intercepted a pass and set up his own two yard scamper to make the score 13-0. Richard Montgomery scored in the third quarter and was threatening on the fifteen yard line late in the fourth quarter until Mike Stevenson intercepted a pass. The Trojans ran out the clock and as pandemonium swept the bleachers, the team left the field—victors.

Earning Trojans Title of Montgomery County AA Champs

The path to victory was not an easy one; there were some anxious moments. During the Homecoming game with BCC, the Barons drove from their 40 to the Trojan's 17, where the defense held for three downs. With the score 14-13 in the Trojan's favor, the Barons brought in their field goal kicker. The kick missed by a mere foot, giving the Trojans victory number seven.

The Einstein Titans gave the Trojans the toughest fight. The Titans led 19-13 with three and one-half minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. Anthony Greene began the drive with an end sweep and didn't stop calling signals until the team had marched sixty yards to tie the score 19-all. All-Metropolitan Calvin Fitz crashed over from the two for the extra point, giving Gaithersburg a narrow 20-19 victory.

Walter Johnson and Sherwood fell easily to the Trojans, giving the team a flawless 10-0 record and the AA Championship.

All Metropolitan Stars Grace Backfield

Seniors Anthony Greene and Calvin Fitz both won places on two area All Metropolitan teams. Anthony was named to a defensive backfield position partly on the merit of his eight interceptions. Calvin, gaining 1,600 yards this season, was named as an offensive back. Mr. John Harvill, who has given of himself tirelessly over the last sixteen years, was named Maryland Coach of the Year in addition to being recognized as outstanding coach of Montgomery County.

Coach John Harvill proudly, yet humbly, receives his award as outstanding coach of Montgomery County for 1966.

Offensive back David Rippeon gains yardage against Kennedy.

Fullback Pat Fitz sees daylight in the Richard Montgomery game.

After last year's 26-13 loss to the Rockets, the Trojans were determined to pull the rug out from under Richard Montgomery. Pat Fitz, who traveled incognito in jersey #27 half the game, ground out important yardage. Noted mainly for his blocking abilities and defensive end position, Pat was a mainstay in the Trojan attack all year. The Trojans downed the Cavaliers 47-0 in a run-away victory. The second string, playing most of the game, scored half the touchdowns, proving G'burg could depend on the entire team, not just a few stars.

Blair, who had only one victory under their belts, decided G'burg was to be their next victim, but the Trojans felt otherwise. Blair jumped out in front to a 7-6 lead in the first quarter and held this lead until Calvin Fitz got by the linebackers and outran the secondary to put G'burg ahead, 13-6. The defensive team held four opponents scoreless and four others to one score apiece. BCC and Einstein were the only teams to score more than one touchdown on the Trojans. The strength of the defense enabled the Trojans to play a wide-open style of football.

End Mike Morris takes a Blair Blazer for a ride.

Trojan Cagers Experience First AA Competition

During their first year of AA competition the Trojan hoopsters fared well against formidable opposition. After winning four out of their last five games, the Trojans finished the season with eight wins and twelve losses.

There were many individuals who turned in notable performances. Senior Angelo Orelli did most of the rebounding for the team besides being a fine scorer. Another senior, Joe Superka, capitalized often on his ability to hit from the outside and helped the Trojans to victory many times. The seniors were not the only ones who proved talented on the courts. Juniors Earnest Clipper, Mike Sadtler, and Pat Thornburgh, were equally important in the Trojans' quest for victory. Both Earnest Clipper and Mike Sadtler assisted in clearing the backboards and were consistent scorers. Pat Thornburg was a fine defensive player and also showed the Trojan rooters some excellent shooting.

Wrestlers Tie For First Place Honors with BCC, Northwood

With all the raw material of a championship team from the start, and with nineteen experienced matmen returning, Coach Andrew Haba whipped the team into championship form through numerous intense practices. Going into their last match undefeated, the grapplers were overcome by BCC to wind up their schedule with a three-way tie for first in the dual-meet season with BCC and Northwood. At the county tournament Mike Bitely pinned all his opponents to end up first in the 127 pound weight class, and upon conclusion of the tourney was given the outstanding wrestler award. Other G'burg wrestlers who placed in the county and were given the privilege of wrestling in the Bi-county were Keith Beck (120), Steve Ludwig (95), Marty Haythorn (180), Doug Lashmit (138), and Ron Dent (145), all of whom placed second in their respective weight classes, and Tom Thrasher (103), who placed third. However, Beck and Thrasher were unable to wrestle in the Bi-county because of injuries. In District II (Bi-county), Ludwig came in first; Haythorn, second; Lashmit, fourth; and Dent, second, to place the team second in the district.

Keith Beck drives his man to the mat.

Mike Bitely shoots for a take-down.

Harriers Claim County, District, State Class A Championships

The '66 track team was the most successful to date. They began their championship kick by taking the county class A-B-C championship for the fifth straight year. For the third time straight the team took the District II Class A championship. They topped off their string of victories by bringing home the state Class A trophy from the 32-school state meet. In doing so, the cindermen set, broke, and tied twenty-one different state, county, district, and school records.

Under the directorship of Coach Hanlon, who has been coaching the team for two years, individuals excelled in their performances. Calvin Fitz, a double winner, turned in a 9.7 sec. 100-yard dash to set a state record. The relay team ran the 440 in 43.5 seconds to give them the State Class A record.

Marcellus Jackson develops momentum before throwing the discus.

To the agenda of spring sports, tennis was added in 1966. Under the watchful eye of Messrs. Peter Gough and Donald Weinberger, the team spent many hours in practice preparing for their first year of competition.

County opposition proved difficult. Although there were many consistent individual winners, among whom were Philip Winter and Allen Winter, Ted Solo, and Bob McCathran, the team managed only one victory—over Springbrook, 5-4.

The team is looking forward to another chance at tough county competition. It should have an excellent season with the help of returnees Phil Winter, Allen Winter, Bob McCathran, Ted Solo, Jack Stoltz and the addition of new members.

Bill Sywter seems to walk on air as he returns a shot.

Phil Winter displays the fine form that helped to make him a consistent winner.

Catcher Steve Gray picks up a bunt, keeping his eyes on the runners already on base.

Another run is chalked up to the Trojans' score as Mike Stevenson crosses home.

Although last year's team was not a championship one, it displayed the characteristics of one. Sportsmanship as well as great individual effort were in evidence in all their games. From the ninety-five boys who originally tried out for the team, Coach Harakal, through his process of elimination and inter-squad games, was able to limit the team to thirteen members.

With six experienced diamondmen to build on, this year's team should have a record as good as, if not superior to, last year's record of five wins, seven losses.

Sportsmanship, Team Effort Rate High as Team's Traits

"#$%&$#& ...," mutters Dave Rippeon as he strikes at the ball.

"Where'd that one go?" questions Coach Harakal as he puts the infielders through practice.

Pitcher Hank Knight has time for a moment of thoughtful consideration as he waits for his turn at bat.

Last year, for the first time in their four-year history, the linksmen won their first match. This year with five of the victorious members returning and with some new additions, the golfers will undoubtedly have another fine season.

Each season, two practices are held to determine a six-man team, and from then on the chosen members are responsible for practicing on their own. The ten-match schedule is arranged by the county, each match involving three teams. After complicated elimination procedures, the total points for each team determine the winner of the match.

Bill Kearns takes a practice swing before getting down to business.

Being the first to drive, Jim McCutcheon watches his ball sail down the fairway.

GSA Schedules, Competition Prove Toughest Ever

Gaithersburg's Girls' Sports Association offered the Trojanettes the opportunity to participate in volleyball, basketball, field hockey, and softball. Traveling to different county schools, as they do annually to play out their schedules, the girls met their toughest competition ever.

All the teams made genuine efforts to prove that the GSA has not only talented sportswomen, but also able sponsors—Misses Wiggins, Work, and Knobloch.

Each girl receives points for the number of practices attended and the number of games participated in. At the end of the season those girls who have accumulated 150 points or more receive a diamond; 350 points or more, a shield; and 450 points or more, a letter.

Jean Doye and teammate wait for the outcome of a basketball shot.

Cindy Hayward thinks that her kick will help Cindy Young put the ball over the net, although Jeanne Gartner is doubtful.

The final path . . .

"This is not the end.
It is not even the beginning of the end.
It is rather the end of the beginning."

Churchill

Best of luck in the future to a good Algebra friend

Teddy;
You are really a great guy and I think the world of you. Don't forget all the crazy times
we've all had, Seneca + Hurst folks
We'll all have to get together again this summer so we can
"Cum" sometime.
Be good + take care.
Love ya
